Off the tracks

Idris Elba is trapped on a runaway train as hostage drama Hijack returns

WORDS: SEAN MARLAND. PHOTOS: APPLE TV

Quick-witted Sam Nelson

NEW THRILLER

Hijack

From Wednesday 14 January, Apple TV (released weekly)

Idris Elba picked up an Emmy nomination for his tour de force performance as master negotiator Sam Nelson in the first series of Apple TV thriller Hijack – and this week he's back in the firing line.

After foiling a terrorist plot on board a packed jumbo jet last time out, in the eight-part second series Sam finds himself battling for control of a packed subway train on Berlin's U-Bahn.

IN HARM'S WAY

At the start of this week's opening episode, Sam arrives in the snowswept German capital for a meeting at the British Embassy, after pestering them for an audience for several months.

But when he boards the subway to begin his journey on the city's underground, it soon becomes clear the driver of his train has a serious problem and before long someone wrestles the controls from him.

With hundreds of passengers now at the mercy of hostile forces, Sam springs into action. However, Elba says this year's series is far more complex than your standard hostage drama.

'There's a really interesting twist that I don't think anyone will see coming,' explains Elba. 'It means the foundational elements of why Sam was a good negotiator are all shot to pieces and he's not sure how to manipulate things in the way he usually does. His skill set in this series is very different from the first one and I applaud the writers, because they've created a puzzle no one will be expecting.'

That twist and a new setting was crucial for the series' co-creator and director Jim Field Smith, who was determined to bring back the atmosphere of the first season while developing Sam as a character.

'We wanted to find a way to start again and explore Sam through an even more challenging lens,' says Field Smith. 'We immediately began thinking, "Where can we put him that will push him even further?" Last time he was 30,000ft in the air and now he's underground, in this physical and moral maze, making tough decisions at every turn.'

As the reason for Sam being in Berlin slowly becomes clear during the opening stages of this year's sequel, it's obvious the toll of his experiences on the hijacked flight from Dubai are still with him.

Indeed, his successful career as a negotiator of billion-pound business mergers now seems to have been derailed, as the follow-up asks what the long-term effects of his trauma would have been.

'We thought about what Sam would have gone through since we last saw him,' explains Elba, 53. 'He's not gone back to work and his life is very different now. When I prepared for the role, I was looking at what happens to men in these instances, and there are some crazy residual effects. You can see a real vulnerability in him this time.'

Yet that vulnerability is what makes Sam so relatable, and Elba hopes the development of his character could pave the way for a third series of Hijack.

'He's quite fragile,' he says. 'He isn't built to be this gun-twirling kung-fu master and he hasn't got a slick answer to every question. He has a very cerebral approach, he's thinking on his toes and he has a lot of courage. He feels compelled to act and I think that's what makes him compelling, but those traits became part of our development of what he could keep going through next.'

'His life is very different now. You can see a real vulnerability in him this time'

IDRIS ELBA

DEFINING MOMENT

Playing such a layered character has clearly been a career highlight for Elba and he was honoured to receive an Emmy nomination for his turn as the negotiator, even if Shōgun star Hiroyuki Sanada eventually won the award.

'It was really satisfying to get the nod from the highest level of television,' says Elba. 'But honestly, I was happy for all of us as a group and I took the nomination as a pat on the back for the entire production!'

Indeed, Field Smith, 46, tells a revealing story about the moment the show's lead actor learnt of his nomination when they were filming the second series.

'We were shooting a complex scene with hundreds of supporting artists at a German underground station that we'd built,' he says. 'Idris came and found me and said, "We've been nominated for an Emmy!" When I checked the news, I realised it was actually him who'd been nominated – but in his head, we all were!'

NEW FROM NETFLIX

Meet Agatha Christie's intrepid sleuth Bundle Brent in a country-house whodunnit

NEW DRAMA

Agatha Christie's Seven Dials

From Thursday 15 January, Netflix

A bizarre death at a country house has far-reaching consequences in star-studded mystery drama Agatha Christie's Seven Dials.

The three-parter, penned by Doctor Who writer Chris Chibnall, is Netflix's first whodunnit by the 'Queen of Crime', and adapted from her lesser-known novel The Seven Dials Mystery.

Set in 1925, it sees spirited Lady Eileen 'Bundle' Brent (Persuasion's Mia McKenna-Bruce) and her widowed mother Lady Caterham (Nolly's Helena Bonham Carter) visit their family's stately home Chimneys, which has been rented out to industrialist Sir Oswald Coote (Hostage's Mark Lewis Jones).

But the morning after a masked ball, one of the guests, Foreign Office worker Gerry Wade (Queen Charlotte's Corey Mylchreest), is found dead in his bedroom, surrounded by alarm clocks.

SUSPICIOUS DEATH

Misadventure, suicide or a prank gone wrong are all suspected, but Bundle, who was about to get engaged to Gerry, believes that there has been foul play, particularly after she also finds a letter mentioning a mysterious 'Seven Dials'.

'Bundle takes it upon herself to investigate and puts herself in peril because Gerry was someone she cared about,' McKenna-Bruce, 28, tells TV&Satellite Week. 'She knows Seven Dials is something important, so she'll stop at nothing to figure it out. There are high stakes. But it's great this young female is leading the charge and refusing to be boxed in by society.'

As Bundle sets out to uncover the truth, however, Lady Caterham, who is grieving for her husband and son, is keen for her to stay out of danger.

TRAUMA

'Lady Caterham is governed by these losses,' says Bonham Carter, 59. 'It's the Roaring Twenties but she's still frozen in 1915 when her son died [in World War One]. She is psychologically fragile and Bundle is all she has and she leans on her a lot.'

Bundle refuses to be deterred, though, and supporting her is Gerry's chirpy pal Jimmy Thesiger (My Lady Jane's Edward Bluemel), while her investigation also sees her encounter enigmatic Superintendent Battle (Martin Freeman). But can Bundle and Battle learn to trust each other as events escalate and the body count rises?

'There's an odd-couple element and an unlikely bond'

MARTIN FREEMAN

'I like Battle and the contrast between him and Bundle,' says Sherlock and The Responder's Freeman, 54. 'They're coming from different worlds but there's an odd-couple element where they form an unlikely bond and they have skills the other doesn't. Battle has experience, but Bundle has gumption and is tenacious.'

Alongside the drama's wry humour and suspenseful scenes, Freeman has enjoyed exploring the darker elements running through the series.

'It's a fun whodunnit and played lightly. But it's interesting that it's set in this time,' he explains. 'There's a subtext that these characters are coming out of a war where millions died and they're finding out what the world is going to be like now. And there are shadowy forces, too…'

Future frontiers

A new generation takes flight in a Star Trek spin-off starring Holly Hunter and Paul Giamatti

NEW FROM Paramount+

Nus Braka (Paul Giamatti) with Nahla Ake (Holly Hunter)

NEW SCI-FI

Star Trek: Starfleet Academy

From Thu 15 Jan, Paramount+ (first two eps from 15 Jan, then weekly)

The best and the brightest from across the galaxy are boldly going to the 32nd century in a Star Trek spin-off set among Starfleet Academy's next generation of leaders.

The 10-part series is based in the same time period where Star Trek: Discovery left off and stars Holly Hunter as the captain of the USS Athena, Nahla Ake.

'I used to watch Star Trek with my father when I was eight years old. It's extraordinary that this story is still being told and people have a hunger for it,' says Oscar-winning The Piano star Hunter, 67. 'The pull of that was exotic and interesting, but so was the challenge of playing the captain who is 422 years old!'

CLASS ACT

In her joint role as the chancellor of Starfleet Academy, Nahla mentors fresh-faced cadets including SAM (Kerrice Brooks), Genesis Lythe (Bella Shepard) and Jay-Den Kraag (Karim Diane).

'Nahla is confronted with these young cadets who are starting a new chapter of their lives, but it's also a new chapter for her as their captain,' says Hunter. 'It's a fun ride, and when I saw the captain's chair for the first time, it was daunting but also beautiful. The bridge is my most favourite set I've ever been on.'

The cadets' training takes place on board the Athena and also on Earth, where, for the first time in more than 120 years, a class is returning to the San Francisco campus. But as they navigate new friendships, romances and rivalries, Nahla feels indebted to one particular student, Caleb Mir (Sandro Rosta), who's on a mission to find his mother (Tatiana Maslany).

HERITAGE

Meanwhile, the students also receive guidance from Commander Lura Thok (Gina Yashere), a Klingon-Jem'Hadar hybrid, while the formidable villain in their midst is Nus Braka (played by Billions actor Paul Giamatti), who shares a dark history with Nahla and a cadet.

'I am a real [Star Trek] fan,' says The Holdovers star Giamatti, 58. 'Like Holly, since about eight years old, I would watch it with my father, so I grew up with Star Trek and all the iterations of it. I've always wished to be on the show and now it's actually happening. I'm the bad guy and it's fantastic!

'He's half-Klingon, half-Tellarite, and the Tellarites are really aggressive, disputatious pig people. Nus Braka is a kind of pirate who has been all over the galaxy and has his finger in every kind of criminal activity. He's a low-life nobody who thinks he's somebody. He also likes to clown around, but underneath it all, he's a dangerous psychopath.'

Fans can expect to see some familiar faces crossing over, too, including Voyager's holographic Doctor (Robert Picardo), Discovery's engineer Jett Reno (Tig Notaro) and Discovery's Admiral Vance (Oded Fehr). Also, listen out for chat-show host Stephen Colbert, who delivers daily announcements as the Digital Dean of Students.

'This show is its own thing, but you'll learn a lot about the franchise if you watch it, so it's a good entry point,' says Giamatti. 'Starfleet Academy is the basis of everything about the Federation.'

Olympic chumps

Rob Beckett and Romesh Ranganathan hit the ice for a two-part Winter Games special

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

Rob & Romesh Vs Team GB: Winter Special

Thu, 9pm, Sky Max & Sky Showcase (box set, Sky Box Sets & NOW)

With the Winter Olympics being held in Italy in February, Rob Beckett and Romesh Ranganathan make a belated effort to secure a spot on Team GB when they tackle a selection of winter sports in a two-part special to mark the upcoming Games in Milan and Cortina.

The comedy pals try out a range of disciplines, assisted by ski-jump legend Eddie 'the Eagle' Edwards and Olympic curling medallists Eve Muirhead and Bobby Lammie.

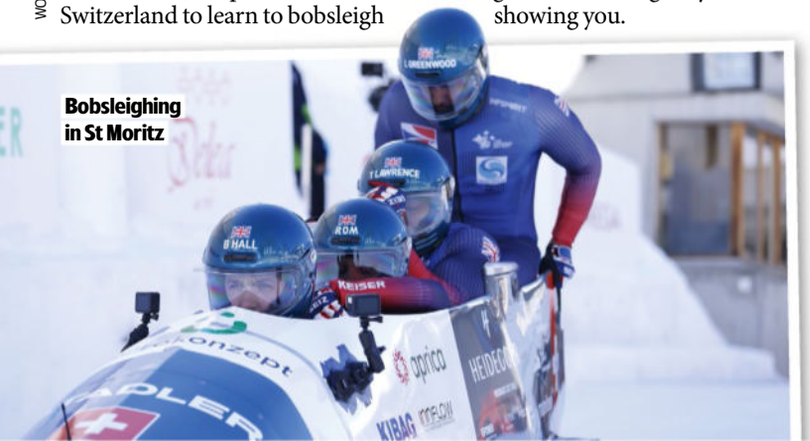
This week, the pair are in Switzerland to learn to bobsleigh at St Moritz with Team GB's Brad Hall and take part in the Biathlon World Championships in Lenzerheide, where they must navigate a cross-country race that combines skiing and rifle shooting.

Here, comedian Ranganathan, 47, tells us more…

How did you enjoy the Winter Olympics events?

'For quite a lot of the race, you're seeing my backside'
ROMESH RANGANATHAN

It was essentially a lab-designed trauma experiment. Just imagine being rubbish at everything and then every two days you have to learn a new thing and compete in it, for the course of a week and a half. You're also being trained by Olympic athletes who don't understand why anybody wouldn't be good at the thing they are showing you.



Bobsleighing in St Moritz

Beckett and Ranganathan try out curling

How did you fare going down the bobsleigh run in St Moritz? Before I was a stand-up, I was a maths teacher, and by weird coincidence, I used to teach Brad Hall, who pilots the Team GB bobsleigh, so I got to have a reunion with him. Part of me was thinking, "Was I horrible to him? Is this a long-term revenge plan where he decided to spend his life training and then get back at me in a bobsleigh?"

Eddie the Eagle

What was it like being taught to ski by Eddie the Eagle? Eddie is a great guy but he doesn't actually have a teaching certificate, so he's not allowed to teach you. You just have to copy what he does. He's not allowed to actually give you any direct instruction, which slightly hampered the process.

Did his lessons help you when you competed in the Biathlon World Championships? We've done a lot of humiliating things while doing this show, but racing Rob in front of thousands of people at the Biathlon Championships might take the cake. I was OK when it came to shooting the rifle, but I'm not a great skier. There's a bit where I fall over and when I get up, the Lycra doesn't fully come up with me, so for quite a lot of the race, you're seeing my backside. I don't know how humiliating it looks, because I've not watched it, but the producers have spoken to me about it and warned me. That's something they've never done before!

Monty Don's Rhineland Gardens

Fri, 8pm, BBC2 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

Born in Germany, green-fingered guru Monty Don is best known as the lead presenter of Gardeners' World (inset), which he joined in 2003. He is a regular on the BBC's annual coverage of the RHS Chelsea Flower Show and has previously explored some of the world's most beautiful and historic gardens in travels to a range of countries including American, France, Italy, India and Japan.

HIS NEW SHOW

Now aged 70, Don travels through Switzerland, France, Austria and Germany as he visits extraordinary gardens along the Rhine from the Alps to the North Sea. Highlights include Haldenstein Castle, now home to an abundance of roses, and the island garden of Mainau in Germany, which boasts world-famous blooms and a 150-year-old arboretum. He also takes in Basel, the first city to legally require green, wildlife-friendly roofs on new buildings. 'The city now has an astonishing two million square metres of green roofs,' he says.

The financiers adjust to life without Pierpoint as the hit drama returns

NEW DRAMA

Industry

Mon, 10.40pm (times vary), BBC1

Banking drama Industry has never been afraid to disrupt the status quo. Its third season, which aired in 2024, concluded with a huge shake-up as the London branch of investment bank Pierpoint – the central hub of the series – was shuttered permanently.

As Season 4 begins this week, Yasmin Kara-Hanani (Marisa Abela) has left the world of finance behind after marrying Sir Henry Muck (Kit Harington), and spends her time throwing soirées where the powerful can connect with each other.

Having married Henry mainly as a means of rehabilitating her image after being caught up in her father's financial and sexual scandals, it's perhaps no surprise her marriage is already in trouble.

'Yasmin is not only a wife, but essentially a caregiver to someone who resents her for needing her care,' says Abela, 29, who was named Leading Actress at the 2025 TV BAFTAs for her role. 'She's miserable, and could probably do with walking away if Henry doesn't get his act together.'

MONEY MISSTEP

Meanwhile, Harper Stern (Myha'la) is working for financier Otto Mostyn (Roger Barclay), running a fund dedicated to shorting the stock of corrupt companies. Unfortunately, she's beginning to realise the role isn't what she signed up for.

'There is a lot of oversight,' says Myha'la, 29. 'Otto always keeps

Call the Midwife

Sunday, 8pm, BBC1

Emotional challenges await the residents of Nonnatus House as Call the Midwife moves into 1971 for its 15th series.

As the BBC1 period drama returns, the team's vital work in Poplar, east London, is under threat again, as spirited nurse Trixie Aylward (Helen George) visits the Board of Health, where she is informed that all medical provision will soon be taken out of council control and put into the hands of the NHS.

This means that the team must stick to rigid new rules and the nuns will have to ditch their habits for uniforms, which angers stalwart Sister Julienne (Jenny Agutter).

'You see how much Nonnatus means to Trixie. She knows what

Harper has doubts about her new role his eyes on Harper, and she's feeling squeezed out and managed in a way she wasn't expecting. So she is anxious and eager to find a way out.'

As well as attempting to charm Whitney Halberstram (The Handmaid's Tale actor Max Minghella), the rising star executive of payment-processing company Tender, Harper reconnects with her former Pierpoint mentor Eric Tao (Ken Leung) with a view to teaming up – but given their toxic history, is a joint venture doomed to fail?

'Obviously, Eric and Harper together is tough in the beginning and it feels a little claustrophobic,' says Myha'la. 'But Harper sees it as an opportunity to build a team that she really trusts, with no ulterior motives this time.'

Burning bras for women's liberation

a difference they make to the community,' explains George, 41.

CHANGING TIMES

The social changes of the time also come to the fore. This includes the arrival of decimalisation, while eager young nurse Rosalind Clifford (Natalie Quarry) meets a new mum who is campaigning for women's rights, and she urges her colleagues to join the battle.

'Feminism has appeared across the 15 series. But now we're talking about the social climate for women in the 70s,' reveals George. 'There's a march, and we burn our bras, which was liberating and fun.'

This week, the team encounters a woman suffering from extreme pregnancy nausea and a couple whose children appear to be experiencing neglect, while later episodes feature cases involving carbon-monoxide poisoning, lupus and rabies.

The eight-part run is the last before the drama takes a short break, but plans are afoot for a World War Two-based prequel and a film set overseas in 1972.

'Seeing the characters in a prequel is fascinating,' shares George. 'And it makes sense for them to branch out into a completely different terrain for the film. It's an exciting new lease of life.'

NETFLIX The Rip

NEW Available: Friday 16 January
Genre: Thriller

Hollywood powerhouse duo and long-time friends Matt Damon and Ben Affleck join forces again for an explosive thriller on Netflix.

Inspired by true events, The Rip follows morally questionable cops operating in Florida's Miami-Dade County, and centres on a tactical narcotics team who are reeling from the murder of one of their own officers when they receive a tip-off about a stash house in the city of Hialeah.

Winning an Oscar for writing Good Will Hunting

Led by Lieutenant Dane Dumars (Damon), they arrive to find Desi Lopez Molina (Sasha Calle) claiming it's her dead grandmother's house. But when Dane and his right-hand man, Detective Sergeant JD Byrne (Affleck), uncover more than $20 million in cash, the stakes instantly skyrocket.

Required by law to count the cash at the scene, the crew spirals as loyalties shift and news of the seizure leaks to outside forces. Can they truly trust each other?

'A rip is when cops keep whatever money they find at a crime scene,' explains Affleck, 53, whose collaborations with Damon include Good Will Hunting, Dogma and Air. 'This movie is a compelling human drama that takes a look at the things people will do for money. It's also a fun ride that keeps you guessing.'

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Dane's tight-knit unit includes detectives Mike Ro (Steven Yeun), Numa Baptiste (Teyana Taylor) and Lolo Salazar (Catalina Sandino Moreno). There's also their boss, Major Thom Vallejo (Nestor Carbonell), DEA agent Mateo 'Matty' Nix (Kyle Chandler) and JD's brother, FBI agent Del Byrne (Scott Adkins).

'The Rip came out of a deeply personal experience that my friend went through, both as a father and as head of tactical narcotics for the Miami-Dade police department,' reveals writer-director Joe Carnahan, who previously helmed Smokin' Aces and Narc.

'But it's also inspired by my love for classic cop thrillers that value character and interpersonal relationships, like Serpico and Heat. This is an extension of that genre and a reminder that there are good people in the world who want to help, be kind and compassionate.

'I hope the audience falls in love with these characters. But at some point, you're going to get your heart broken…'

A gardening club hides a dark secret in a new thriller

ITVX Grosse Pointe Garden Society

NEW Available: Sunday 11 January
Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 13

Four green-fingered friends are burying more than bulbs and seeds in ITVX's new 13-part US mystery drama Grosse Pointe Garden Society.

Teacher Alice (AnnaSophia Robb) and estate agent Catherine (Aja Naomi King) are active members of a suburban gardening club in the Michigan city of Grosse Pointe, along with their friend Brett (Ben Rappaport), a divorced father who is also the club's manager.

When wealthy author Birdie (Melissa Fumero) joins the club as part of a community-service order, they don't anticipate having much in common with her – but in six months' time, the foursome conspire to cover up a murder...

In order to portray keen gardeners, the cast had to be willing to get their hands dirty, but for Robb, this was all part of the appeal.

'My cousins had a farm for a little bit in high school, and we were always out there weeding and planting things,' she says. 'I love flowers, so I was like, "Get me in the dirt, I want the tools!"'

REAP WHAT YOU SOW

The series' timeline alternates between the present day and six months in the future, offering glimpses into the aftermath of the murder while keeping the victim's identity under wraps. In fact, the central mystery of the show was such a closely guarded secret that even the cast were left in the dark.

'When we were filming the pilot, none of us knew who the body was – we ended up making something up for ourselves,' says Fumero.

The opening episode establishes major grievances for each of the characters that could potentially grow into motivation for murder – and the stars had to consider the possibility that they were unknowingly playing a killer.

'My character, Brett, is somebody who's been wronged by a bunch of people,' says Rappaport. 'But on the other hand, he's a teddy bear – he's a great dad, a good friend and an amazing listener. He leads with his heart – how could someone like that commit a murder?'

The US students are back for more bed-hopping...

Disney+ Tell Me Lies

NEW Available: Tuesday 13 January
Genre: Drama Season: 3 Episodes: 8
(first two episodes from 13 January, then weekly)

Steamy US drama Tell Me Lies returns to Disney+ this week with a third helping of scandalous secrets and breathtaking betrayals as we follow on/off couple Lucy Albright and Stephen DeMarco and their pals at the fictional Baird College in Upstate New York.

The drama picks up just as Lucy (Grace Van Patten) and Stephen (Jackson White) have rekindled their tumultuous romance in time for spring term. Although the pair promise things will be different this time, indiscretions resurface and Lucy becomes embroiled in a controversy.

The new season also explores how the pair's best friends – including Wrigley (Spencer House), who blames himself for the death of his brother, and Bree (Catherine Missal), who discovered her professor lover Oliver (Tom Ellis) had an open marriage – must face up to their own destructive behaviours.

'Everything's coming to a head. Everything's getting more and more tangled and intertwined and you start to see these characters actually face consequences,' says Van Patten, who is dating co-star White in real life.

'We are probably the exact opposite of our characters, which makes it fun to act out those scenes. Lucy and Stephen are so far from ourselves and our relationship that it's really fun to be them – and be mean and crazy!'

Will Smith backpacks across the planet in an epic journey

Disney+ Pole to Pole with Will Smith

NEW Available: Wednesday 14 January
Genre: Travelogue Season: 1 Episodes: 7

It's 'around the world in 100 days' for Hollywood actor Will Smith, as he embarks on a mammoth global adventure across seven continents for his visually stunning new series, Pole to Pole with Will Smith.

Venturing 26,000 miles from the South Pole to the North Pole, he experiences all the Earth's biomes – polar ice, desert, jungle, mountain, savannah and swamp – while also learning what it's like to live in some of the world's most extreme landscapes.

'As a little boy, I always wanted to be an explorer,' says the 57-year-old Men in Black and King Richard actor. 'I had a mentor named Dr Allen Counter, who was a brilliant scientist and a fearless explorer. He was always going on these amazing adventures and he'd invite me along, but I never went. He passed away a few years ago. Ever since, I've wondered what was out there that he wanted me to discover, so I decided to go and see for myself.'

Smith begins his seven-episode adventure in Antarctica with a perilous trek on skis to the South Pole, supported by polar athlete Richard Parks. On the way, the pair stop off at a tiny research outpost, home to three Brazilian climate scientists living in one of the most remote places on Earth.

Along the way, Smith is tested by a -37-degree wind chill, a 300ft vertical climb up an ice wall, and an exhausting push to the South Pole across a vast plateau.

'I generally don't give up, but in Antarctica you have that moment where you realise Mother Nature's actually in charge,' recalls Smith, who later in the series explores the Amazon, the Pacific Islands and the Kalahari Desert.

'Antarctica is a rough environment and I guess my biggest worry was that I was going to die, that I wasn't going to make it home. But as Dr Counter used to say, if you're not scared, you're not living. You really have to get out there to find the answers to what's important.'

● Also airing weekly from Wednesday, 8pm & 9pm, National Geographic

Baddiel with broadcaster Dawn O'Porter

How did this series come about? There are always TV series about dogs, right? But there's never been one that's straightforwardly about cats, which is mad. Luckily, C4 agreed, and that means I basically get to spend three episodes hanging out with cats. I think if my career ended up with me just making this show over and over again, I'd be entirely happy.

Have you always been a so-called 'cat man'? Yeah, in my lifetime, I've probably had about 30 cats. Sadly my cat Pip, who was 15, died during filming. The three that are left, Ron, Tiger and Zelda, are Pip's children, but they're all very different. Tiger is basically the nicest being I've ever met, Zelda is high-maintenance and a bit of a broken biscuit, while Ron is really jumpy and strange. You never quite know what he wants.

What makes cats such good pets? For me, it all starts with my dad. He was mainly angry for most of his life, and although he loved us, he only ever showed affection to the cat. I think that's what led me and my brothers to become cat men. I don't think I'm ever completely content unless there's a cat in the room. It's like the feeling of home.

Tell us about some of the cats you meet in the series... We visit Wilfred Warrior, who's meant to be the ugliest cat in the world and has almost a million followers on Instagram. Then there's a paddleboarding cat called Bongo and we meet a woman who takes her cat on walks. They've even hiked up Ben Nevis together!

And what about your fellow celebrity cat fans? So, on the show we have Ricky Gervais and Jonathan Ross, who currently has two cats, Maud and Pads Pickleson. Then there's Dawn O'Porter, who had her favourite cat freeze-dried. Honestly, you wouldn't know it was dead apart from the fact that it doesn't move!

Valley of the Kings: Secret Tomb Revealed

Saturday, 7pm, C4

Cameras follow archaeologists as they excavate the burial chamber of Pharaoh Ramses III, one of the most spectacular tombs in the Valley of the Kings, which has never been fully explored. The dig reveals 3,000-year-old treasures and evidence that could shed light on the warrior king's assassination.

Jamie's Feasts for a Fiver

Monday, 8pm, C4

With all of us watching the pennies after Christmas, Jamie Oliver (above) is here to serve up some delicious affordable dishes and money-saving tricks. The series begins with a hearty chicken hotpot that's perfect for batch cooking, alongside a quick and aromatic fish curry and budget-friendly French-toast crumpets.

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Lorraine Kelly's Norwegian Odyssey

Thursday, 8pm, C4

Lorraine Kelly is kicking 2026 off by swapping her TV-studio sofa for a snow-capped Scandinavian adventure when the daytime presenter goes in search of sea eagles and the Northern Lights in a new three-part C4 series, Lorraine Kelly's Norwegian Odyssey.

'I've wanted to do travel shows since I was a kid, but I've never had the opportunity,' says the 66-year-old, who travels more than 1,000 miles through Norway's epic landscape, where she discovers the local culture, history and food.

'Growing up in Scotland, I was fascinated by tales from across the water – of Viking longboats and Norse warriors and really wanted to meet my northern neighbours.'

Her travels start at the gateway to the fjords in Ålesund. She sails through Hjørundfjord and up to Trondheim, once the nation's Viking capital.

'It's stunning – like travelling back in time,' says Kelly.

Other highlights in the series include spotting majestic sea eagles off the coast of Svolvær, catching cod near the Lofoten Islands, and getting a baby-goat massage in the Arctic Circle.

'They jump on your back, it's wonderful,' she smiles. 'Most of the wildlife took my breath away. I loved seeing orcas and huskies – even if I did steer the dogs into the only tree in front of me!'

Along the way, the presenter also threw herself into the Norwegian concept of friluftsliv – embracing outdoor living.

'It's all about having a sense of contentment,' she reveals. 'I found the further north we went, the more in tune with nature and the more contented people were. Like the Sami people, reindeer-herders I met in the Vesterålen region, who are at one with nature and live a free, nomadic life. Being welcomed into their tents and hearing their stories and songs was amazing. You see the beauty in simplicity.'

Road to Revenge

Jorma Tommila's one-man army returns to take on sadistic Soviet Stephen Lang

ACTION THRILLER

Available now, buy or rent from digital stores including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★★

Rarely has the phrase 'it does what it says on the tin' been more appropriate than in this blast 'em up action sequel to savour. A superb Jorma Tommila lets his expressive face do the talking as the strong, silent hero who, in 1946 on the Finnish/Soviet border, returns to his house where his family was massacred during the war.

Dismantling his home plank by plank, he loads the entire house on a lorry and sets off to find a safe place to live. However, danger lies ahead in the form of scene-stealing Stephen Lang's Russian villain (the man who killed Tommila's family), dispatched by Richard Brake's KGB officer to finish the job he started. And so begins a marvellous revenge story between Tommila (whose cute little dog also makes a welcome return) and Lang.

Director Jalmari Helander ensures his foot stays on the accelerator as a plentiful supply of bad-guy extras are lined up to be bludgeoned, blown up, stabbed, run over and decapitated while the protagonists wage war in planes, trains and automobiles. There's not a single wasted second in its trim running time, while the brilliantly executed set pieces just get better and better. 2025, 15, 89MIN

SCI-FI THRILLER

In Vitro

Available now, Prime Video ★★★

In a near-future world where cloning animals is the only way to make up for severe food shortages, Australian cattle farmer/scientist Ashley Zukerman (Succession, Silo) is busy tinkering away at creating cows, but failing. He's determined to clone an animal in as little as two weeks, thus be able to feed a desperate population. His wife Talia Zucker, though, has other things on her mind, as she becomes increasingly suspicious of her husband's other, more secretive extra-curricular and surreptitious experiments... The Australian landscape has never appeared as bleak and unforgiving as in this well thought-out, gripping low-fi sci-fi thriller that uses its brief running time to sustain its grip. It's helped enormously by two excellent lead actors, too. 2024, 15, 88MIN

COMEDY THRILLER

Borderline

Saturday, 8.35am & 12.30am, Sky Premiere ★★★

Taking a literal stab at celebrity stalker culture, this messed-up bundle of genres of a movie sees Ray (son of Jack) Nicholson play Paul, a lunatic with a fixation on famous actress and singer Sofia (Samara Weaving). Along with fellow gleeful psychopath Penny (a terrific Alba Baptista), he breaks into Sofia's mansion with the sole intention of marriage, happy to leave bloody carnage behind him. But Sofia's loyal bodyguard (Eric Dane) is in his way... The jokes don't all land and the tone shifts constantly, but the film is helped enormously by a strong set of actors (including a woefully underused Jimmie Fails). This uneven directorial debut of writer Jimmy Warden (Weaving's real-life husband) does have plenty of upsides, including one of the most bizarre piano duets you're likely to witness. 2025, 15, 94MIN

To claim this is better than the 1985 Brigitte Nielsen sword 'n' sorcery vehicle is not much of a bar to step over (even though it featured Arnold Schwarzenegger's Conan in it) – what holds this latest version back is the obvious lack of budget. Which is a shame, because Matilda Lutz's take on the role is really good, as she sets out to destroy cowardly but sadistic ruler Draygan (a fun Robert Sheehan) and free the lands from his tyranny. Even some of the set pieces are well orchestrated, but some god-awful CGI really lets it down. That being said, it's still more fun than you would expect. 2025, 15, 110MIN

The Ballad of Wallis Island

Friday, 10.25am & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

When down-on-his-luck folk musician Tom Basden arrives on a tiny island for a gig, little does he realise it's a concert for one. That would be Tim Key, an awkward, eternally optimistic man who, again unknown to the singer, has also invited Basden's ex-partner, Carey Mulligan, for a musical reunion, after the pair had split over a decade ago. A sweet tale of lost love, grief and the power of music, it's also amusing – especially thanks to Key – but also capable of real pathos that hits surprisingly hard. MYSTERY THRILLER

Now You See Me, Now You Don't

Available now, buy or rent from digital stores including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★

First encountered in 2013's tricksy heist movie Now You See Me, those swaggering magicians the Four Horsemen are back for their third highly convoluted caper. This time the quartet – cocky illusionist J Daniel Atlas (Jesse Eisenberg), sly hypnotist Merritt McKinney (Woody Harrelson), light-fingered cardsharp Jack Wilder (Dave Franco) and daring escape artist Henley Reeves (Isla Fisher) – are joined by young challengers Bosco (Dominic Sessa), June (Ariana Greenblatt) and Charlie (Justice Smith), a trio who are using their magic skills to right social wrongs.

The two groups join forces to take down money-laundering mining magnate Veronika Vanderberg (Rosamund Pike). As they plot to steal from under her nose a giant gem known as the Heart Diamond, there is plenty of the series' trademark jiggery-pokery and glossy globetrotting.

The gang's intricate deceptions are fun and clever, although the dazzle does wear off pretty quickly. Even so, it's not hard to see the Now You See Me films turning into a knowingly ridiculous Mission: Impossible/Fast & Furious-type franchise. 2025, 12, 112MIN

There's a fortune in gold in a bank behind Nazi lines in France and Clint Eastwood and his gang of renegade GIs try to get their hands on it, deciding there's more to World War Two than killing and being killed. Will holders Crystal Palace fall victim to a giant-killing?

FA Cup Third Round

LIVE FOOTBALL

Friday 9 January-Monday, BBC1, TNT Sports & Discovery+

There were jubilant scenes at Wembley in May when Crystal Palace won the FA Cup for the first time in their 120-year history with a 1-0 victory over Manchester City.

Now, Oliver Glasner's Eagles begin the defence of their crown in this week's third round. And in true FA Cup tradition, Palace must first avoid a banana skin when they travel to non-league Macclesfield on Saturday (k-o 12.15pm, BBC1, TNT Sports 1 & Discovery+).

While Palace are enjoying another excellent season, Macclesfield are mid-table in the sixth-tier National League North after the club was forced to reform in 2020 following liquidation – as documented in two BBC series following Robbie Savage's stint as manager of the beleaguered Cheshire club.

The match is just one of 22 ties being televised live, including the all-Premier League game between Tottenham Hotspur and Aston Villa (Saturday, k-o 5.45pm, BBC1, TNT Sports 1 & Discovery+). But the real romance of the competition comes from the David v Goliath match-ups as lower-league sides seek to topple their illustrious opponents.

Here, we pick the ties most likely to see a giant-killing…

WREXHAM v NOTTINGHAM FOREST

Friday 9 Jan, kick-off 7.30pm, TNT Sports 1 & Discovery+

New boss Sean Dyche (right) has started well at Forest. The two-time winners made it to Wembley last season, losing to Manchester City in their first FA Cup semi-final since 1991, while Hollywood-backed Wrexham have made a solid start to life in the Championship.

WOLVES v SHREWSBURY TOWN

Saturday, kick-off 12.15pm, TNT Sports 6 & Discovery+

With his side rooted to the bottom of the Premier League, Wolves boss Rob Edwards risks further humiliation when his former club arrive at Molineux for this local derby. League Two Shrewsbury avoided a giant-killing of their own by defeating non-league Sutton in the last round in a game that saw three red cards.

GRIMSBY TOWN v WESTON-SUPER-MARE

Saturday, kick-off 5.45pm, TNT Sports 5 & Discovery+

League Two Grimsby Town might not be considered giants of world football, but try telling that to fans of Weston-super-Mare as the non-league outfit seek to cause an upset. The National League South side are in the third round for the first time in their 139-year history thanks to goals from Louis Britton in their second-round win over Chelmsford City.

CHARLTON ATHLETIC v CHELSEA

Saturday, kick-off 8pm, TNT Sports 1 & Discovery+

It's been a long time since The Valley last witnessed an FA Cup shock, but it remains an unforgiving away trip for any team facing Charlton's passionate home crowd. Currently hampered by an injury list longer than the queue for half-time beers, the mid-table Championship side still boast a resilient defence marshalled by Lloyd Jones (right) and Kayne Ramsay.

LIVE SERIE A

Inter Milan v Napoli

Sunday, kick-off 7.45pm, TNT Sports 2

This top-of-the-table clash at the San Siro could prove vital as both sides chase the Serie A title. Champions Napoli boast a host of former Premier League stars such as Kevin De Bruyne (above), Romelu Lukaku, Scott McTominay, Billy Gilmour and on-loan Rasmus Højlund.

LIVE EFL CUP

Newcastle United v Manchester City

Tue, k-o 8pm, ITV1, Sky Sports Football & Sky Sports Main Event

The holders host eight-time winners Manchester City in the first leg of their EFL Cup semi-final after teenager Lewis Miley's late winner against Fulham in the quarters. This week's other semi-final sees Chelsea take on Arsenal or Crystal Palace (Wed).

LIVE AFCON

Semi-finals

Wed, kick-offs 5pm & 8pm, E4

After Saturday's remaining quarter-finals, the semi-finals kick off in Tangier and Rabat on Wednesday as the last four battle it out for a place in next week's Africa Cup of Nations final. Hosts Morocco haven't reached this stage since 2004 – can captain Achraf Hakimi of PSG bring his country success?

KIDS WATCHLIST

Great shows for young viewers (from tots to teens) on linear TV and streaming

PREMIERE

sky cinema Smurfs

Thursday, 6.10am & 3.30pm, Sky Premiere; also on Paramount+

This latest animated film about the small blue creatures features an all-star voice cast including Rihanna as Smurfette, John Goodman as Papa Smurf and James Corden as No Name Smurf. It centres on an adventure that the Smurfs must embark upon after Papa is kidnapped by Razamel, who's the brother of wicked wizard Gargamel.

A fun and entertaining escape into the Smurf universe, which also sets the scene for future adventures. Isn't that just Smurfy?

itvX prime Labyrinth

Available to stream now, ITVX & Prime Video

On Saturday 10 January, it will have been 10 years since the world lost a legend, with the passing of singer and actor David Bowie in 2006. And with 2026 also marking 40 years since the release of the musical fantasy Labyrinth, it seems only right and proper that we settle in to reacquaint ourselves with the tale, in which 16-year-old Sarah (Jennifer Connelly) has to enter a fantasy realm to rescue her baby brother, who has been kidnapped by Jareth, the Goblin King (Bowie).

FIRST LOOK

Dear England

Joseph Fiennes stars as Sir Gareth Southgate in a compelling drama

Pippa (Jodie Whittaker)

BBC1's upcoming drama Dear England examines how manager Sir Gareth Southgate fought to turn around the fortunes of the England men's football team.

The four-parter, airing later this year and adapted by James Graham from his own award-winning stage play, sees Joseph Fiennes reprise his role as Southgate, which he originated at London's National Theatre in June 2023.

Fictionalised, but based on extensive research and interviews, the series follows Southgate as he becomes the squad's manager in 2016. But he faces an uphill battle to motivate the team after their years in the doldrums, and the players undergo more momentous ups and downs before he eventually gets them to the latter stages of tournaments including the 2018 World Cup and the Euros in 2024.

SQUAD GAME

Frauds' Jodie Whittaker co-stars as team psychologist Pippa Grange, while Will Antenbring plays England captain Harry Kane, Jason Watkins is former FA chairman Greg Dyke and Daniel Ryan is ex-assistant manager Steve Holland.

'Bringing the national game to the National Theatre over two years ago, and getting to tell this inspiring story of Gareth's quiet revolution, and its themes of redemption, resilience, kindness and compassion in sport, was one of the most rewarding moments of my writing life,' says Graham. 'I'm so grateful to the world-class cast and creative team we've assembled.'

Standard Subscription rates (1 year) UK $185.93, Europe 572.69 Euros, USA $648313, Rest of World $648313. WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

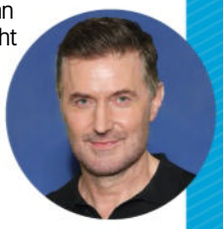
Richard Armitage

In ITV1's crime drama Winter, the actor will star as Bristol-based forensic pathologist Dr Ethan Winter, whose insight helps DI Lauren Bell (Annabel Scholey) crack cases, but he is haunted by an unsolved murder.



Rafe Spall

The actor will play a beleaguered Prime Minister in C4's comedy drama Number 10, penned by Steven Moffat. Katherine Kelly is the chief of staff, while Jenna Coleman portrays her deputy.

Sir David Jason

U&Gold's two-part special Only Fools and Horses: The Lost Archive will see the actor join former co-stars including Tessa Peake-Jones to reflect on rare footage from the classic sitcom.

Coming Back

Period vet drama All Creatures Great and Small will return on 5 for a seventh and eighth series plus Christmas specials, which will continue the story of Helen (Rachel Shenton), James (Nicholas Ralph) and his colleagues.

A REMINDER OF
His Enduring Presence

The knowledge that God is always with us brings faith and comfort to every day, and the amethyst is a well-known symbol of that trust and piety. Now that beloved gemstone and the holy cross come together in an exquisite women's amethyst pendant necklace. Introducing the Always with You Pendant Necklace, exclusively from The Bradford Exchange.

Masterfully handcrafted of solid sterling silver and richly plated in 18 carat gold, this stunning pendant showcases a marquise-cut genuine amethyst with a finely etched cross at its centre. The centrepiece is embraced by sparkling bands pavé set with genuine white topaz, creating an inspirational infinity design. The meaningful message "Always With You" is elegantly engraved on the reverse side as a reminder that God is ever-present.
